Not illustrated. 1898 Excerpt: . return periodically, and are usually treated by the attending physicians by hydrotherapeutic measures. As a rule the pain disappeared in a few days under this treatment and patient was again able to follow her usual vocation. Becker was called to the patient in one of these attacks and learned from the history that the pains, during which the girl threw herself around in bed for hours, returned in about four weeks, and that the child, who by no means gave the impression of being anemic, had never menstruated. A physical examination, which was permitted only after lengthy opposition, revealed total occlusion of the hymen, which felt tough, and was strongly protruded by a tense elastic tumor. He had, therefore, to deal with retained menstrual secretion in the vagina caused by atresia hymenalis. The treatment was of course very simple; a crucial incision opened the...
